As a Christian business leader you have the awesome potential of ministering in the marketplace where God has called, placed, and equipped you.

Most leadership experts say that the typical leader can mentor about six people well. Jesus was the exception.

Imagine how much more successful you would be if you could invest your time with your closest leadership team by envisioning, strategizing, equipping, and mentoring them to be high capacity leaders in your business organization.

Our purpose is not to take your place as the "Spiritual" leader in your business, but to come alongside and further resource you, and provide exemplary care to your employees, so that you can focus more on building your business.

Our strategy is to provide highly trained Chaplains to care for your employees through personal weekly onsite visits.

David Smith

Typically the Chaplain will circulate throughout your business, making a brief personal contact with each employee for the purpose of building rapport, and establishing a working relationship. It is in the basis of this relationship, established over time, that the employee would open up and desire to meet with the Chaplain to follow up on situations that arise as a result of personal, family, spiritual, or work related issues affecting the employee, their partner, or family members.

All our chaplains have experience in the business community and are trained professionals who come from such varied backgrounds as Counseling, Social Work, Psychology, Chaplaincy, and Pastoral Ministry. Each of our Chaplains is committed to an ongoing training program, and are also well equipped for multi-cultural and multi-faith, pluralistic workplaces.

As a ministry, we seek to provide continual 24/7 care to you, your employees, and their families at the lowest rates possible.

Call David Smith to bring this cutting edge service to your workplace.

Expected Outcomes

- Reduction in non work related incidents such as severe marital crises, addictions, burn out, or other stress related issues that significantly impair work place effectiveness.
- Increased morale due to regular visits with a competent caregiver who is available for encouragement and discussion on any issue at any time.

- Stronger work performance due to employees being better prepared to handle work and personal stress.
- Improved focus while at work due to a reduction in distractions from critical personal and family issues.

- Reduced stress through having a trusted friend share their personal struggles as well as learning how to handle personal and work issues more effectively
- Healthy spirituality through tactful, respectful, permission based spiritual care, as part of a truly holistic approach that neither pushes nor avoids issues.
